NATO INDUSTRIAL ADVISORY GROUP

NIAG INTERFACE GROUP

TERMS OF REFERENCE

Reference:

- a. AC/259-D/1167: NIAG-D(86)5 dated 12 August 1986 – NIAG Terms of Reference.

1. BACKGROUND

1.1 In accordance with the NIAG Terms of Reference (TOR), reference (a), the NIAG is charged with providing industry's advice to the CNAD on how to foster government-to-industry and industry-to-industry armaments co-operation within the Alliance.

1.2 One such avenue for the provision of advice has been the NIAG Interface Group to AC/313, the CNAD Group on Acquisition Practice. In July 2003, AC/313 was closed and its activities subsumed in a new CNAD Group, AC/327, the Life Cycle Management Group (LCMG)¹.

1.3 At the June 2005 NIAG plenary meeting, reference (b), the NIAG Interface Group was invited to explore with the LCMG how NIAG could contribute to the CNAD 'accelerated fielding' initiative. In response to this invitation, Terms of Reference to better establish the NIAG Interface Group liaison with the LCMG are presented.

2. TASK

2.1 The task of the NIAG Interface Group is to liaise with the CNAD AC/327 Life Cycle Management Group with the aim of providing Industrial advice and viewpoints, as required, in the areas of:

2.1.1 industrial methodologies in support of ISO/IEC 15288, 'Systems Engineering – System Life Cycle Processes';

2.1.2 industrial implications of proposed NATO guidance related to implementation of system life cycle processes, for example contractual, financial, management implications;

¹ DI(APPP)(2003)015(NADREPS) dated 7 April 2003.

2.1.3 ??.....

2.2 The group may also propose to AC/327 areas of work related to Life Cycle Management that would contribute to the furtherance of timely armaments procurement in support of NATO capabilities.

3. COMPOSITION

3.1 The group is composed of up three (?) industrial representatives from separate NIAG delegations, with one member being assigned as group leader.

4. METHOD OF WORKING

4.1 The group will provide representation at AC/327 meetings as appropriate and will seek support and contributions to their activities from NIAG delegations by correspondence.

5. REPORTING

5.1 The group will report periodically to the NIAG Plenary on the subjects under review, the advice being provided and the outcomes being achieved.

6. RECOMMENDATION

6.1 NIAG is invited to agree these Terms of Reference for the NAIG Interface Group. If the Secretary has not heard to the contrary by, it will be assumed that these TOR are agreed.
